Word Engineer

Prepare two sets of index cards with the letters of the alphabet, and play this game. It is a kind of dominoes with letters. One set of cards is given to each of two players, who keep the cards face down. The first player forms a word with his or her letters and places it face up on the table. The following player forms a word that crosses the other word vertically using his or her letters. The words can be formed horizontally or vertically, using at least one of the letters of the words formed by the previous player. The result is a kind of crossword puzzle. The objective is to be the first player to use up all his or her cards.
